Full-Stack Software Developer

2020 - 2022

Freelance

Used popular freelancing platforms to find clients and served them with great success on tasks such as bug hunting, small automation solutions with Python, developing blocks on code and more.
Also helped small local businesses with tasks such as developing their e-shop, giving advice on their needs, recommending their deploying options and even providing IT services.

Education

Computer and Information Sciences

Ionian University

Currently finishing the self assigned thesis as it's the last requirements for the degree.

Relative Projects

Arctic Fox API

Thesis

An implementation that uses python's Flask web framework to create an OpenAPI and auto generate it's spec file and documentation page. Unittests, SAST, DAST and CI/CD tools were used for automated testing and locating security and error prone flaws.

Arctic Fox UI

Thesis

A simple UI has also been developed with React-Native that means it's fully compatible with Android and iOS and ready to be deployed into an app with the same codebase.
